

Easy Prep! Barramundi & Bok Choy Salad

with Nuoc Cham

20-30min

2 Servings

With an irresistible mix of flavors, the Vietnamese dipping sauce known as nuoc cham elevates everything it touches, and these meaty, crispy barramundi filets are no exception. We make the sweet, sour, and salty sauce, then toss it with raw baby bok choy, snow peas, radishes, and mint for a refreshing salad. The crispy barramundi rests on top along with crunchy peanuts, mint leaves, and more nuoc cham for drizzling over top.

What we send

- ½ lb baby bok choy
- 1 bag radishes

1. Prep ingredients

Slice bok choy crosswise into 1-inch pieces; rinse under cold water to remove any grit, then pat very dry with a paper towel.

Thinly slice radish.

Trim snow peas (halve crosswise, if desired).

4. Prep mint & peanuts

Pick mint leaves from stems; discard stems.

Coarsely chop or crush peanuts.

2. Make nuoc cham

Finely chop 1 teaspoon garlic. Trim ends from Fresno chile, then thinly slice. Squeeze juice from 1 lime into a medium bowl. Add all of the fish sauce, chopped garlic, Fresno chile (use less or omit for less heat), 2 tablespoons sugar, and ¼ cup warm water; stir until sugar is dissolved.

5. Finish

Transfer bok choy, radishes, and snow peas to a large bowl. Tear half of the mint leaves into bowl. Toss salad with 1-2 tablespoons of the nuoc cham and 2 tablespoons oil. Sprinkle with chopped peanuts.

Serve barramundi over salad with remaining mint leaves torn over top and remaining nuoc cham for drizzling.

3. Cook barramundi

Pat fish dry and season all over with salt and pepper.

Heat 2 teaspoons oil in a medium nonstick skillet over medium-high until shimmering. Add fish, skin-side down. Gently press each filet for 10 seconds with back of a spatula. Lower heat to medium and cook until skin is well browned, 4-5 minutes. Flip fish; cook until just cooked through, 1-2 minutes more.

6. Serve

Enjoy!
