1. Melt butter & cocoa

Preheat oven to 350°F with a rack in the center.

In a medium ovenproof skillet (preferably cast-iron) over medium heat, whisk to combine cocoa powder, ⅔ cup packed brown sugar, ½ cup water, ⅓ cup chocolate chips, and 4 tablespoons butter until melted and smooth, 3–5 minutes. Remove from heat and let cool slightly (about 5 minutes).

2. Finish batter

To skillet with cooled butter-chocolate mixture, whisk in 1 large egg and all of the sour cream, until combined. Gently stir in self-rising flour and ½ teaspoon salt until combined. Scrape down the sides of the skillet and smooth out to evenly distribute batter in skillet.

3. Bake cake & cool

Bake skillet on center oven rack until a toothpick inserted into the center comes out mostly clean, 15–18 minutes. Allow cake to cool slightly (about 30 minutes).

4. Make fudge topping

Once cake has cooled, in a small microwave-safe bowl, stir to combine remaining chocolate chips, ¼ cup milk, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon confectioners sugar, and a pinch of salt. Microwave on high, about 1 minute (milk should be hot and chocolate soft); whisk until smooth. Let cool, about 5 minutes. Pour fudge topping over cake in skillet; spread evenly to edges to frost.

5. Draw cobweb & serve

In a small bowl, whisk together 1 cup confectioners sugar, 1½ tablespoons milk, and a pinch of salt. Transfer to a plastic sandwich bag; snip off a small corner. Pipe a spiral of icing onto the fudge, starting in the center, going outward. Pull the tip of a toothpick through the frosting, starting in the center, going outward. Repeat to form a web and serve. Enjoy!

6. Unleash your inner artist

This spook-tacular cake is cobweb inspired, but feel free to make it your own! You can frost your cake with a pumpkin, a ghost, or whatever you desire.
