Chana Dal & Cumin-Garlic Butter with Spinach & Basmati Rice

20-30min

2 Servings

Chickpeas and spices were made for each other and there's no better proof than in this deeply flavorful and colorful vegetarian dish. We cook the canned beans with warm spices until the flavors are absorbed and the chickpeas become extra tender. Some beans get mashed for a thick texture while fresh spinach wilts in. Garlicky butter with toasted cumin seeds is the final fragrant garnish. We've got you covered!

1. Prep ingredients

In a small saucepan, add rice, 1¼ cups water, and ½ teaspoon salt. Bring to a boil. Cover and cook over low heat until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed, about 17 minutes. Keep covered until ready to serve.

Cut lime into 8 wedges. Thinly slice 2 large garlic cloves.

2. Cook chana dal

In a medium saucepan, combine chickpeas and their liquid, half of the garlic, ¾ teaspoon turmeric, ½ teaspoon chai spice, 1 tablespoon butter, ½ teaspoon salt, and 1 cup water; bring to a boil. Partially cover and reduce heat to simmer. Cook, stirring occasionally, until chickpeas are very tender, about 20 minutes (add ¼ cup water at a time as needed if too thick). Remove from heat.

3. Finish chana dal

Using an immersion blender, potato masher, or fork, puree or mash half of the chana dal in saucepan. Stir in spinach until just wilted. Squeeze in juice of 1 lime wedge. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

4. Make butter & serve

Divide rice and chana dal between bowls. Wipe out medium saucepan and add 2 tablespoons butter; melt over medium heat. Add remaining garlic and 1 teaspoon cumin seeds; cook, stirring constantly, until seeds are fragrant and lightly toasted, 2–3 minutes.

Drizzle cumin-garlic butter over chana dal and serve with remaining lime wedges. Enjoy!
