

Cornmeal Shortcakes with Nectarines

Blueberry Jam & Whipped Mascarpone

 1h  2 Servings

This rustic dessert evokes everything we love about summertime. The simple cornbread batter bakes fast while we cook a blueberry jam and whip a fluffy mascarpone cream. Then assemble each shortcake with macerated nectarines, which soak in lemon juice and sugar to bring out sweeter flavor and a softer texture. (2-p plan makes 2 shortcakes; 4-p plan makes 4)

What we send

1. Macerate nectarines

Preheat oven to 425°F with a rack in the upper third. Line a rimmed baking sheet with parchment paper.

Halve nectarine, remove pit, then cut into ¼-inch thick wedges. Toss in a small bowl with 1 tablespoon granulated sugar and 1 teaspoon lemon juice; set aside until softened, at least 30 minutes. Taste and add more sugar, if desired.

4. Cook blueberry jam

Meanwhile, in a small saucepan, combine blueberries, 2 tablespoons granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, and ¼ cup water. Bring to a boil over medium-high heat and cook, stirring frequently, until thick, jammy, and a spatula drawn across bottom of saucepan leaves a distinct trail, 3–5 minutes. Transfer to a bowl; cool to room temperature.

2. Mix shortcakes

In a medium bowl, whisk together cornbread mix and 1 teaspoon granulated sugar. Cut 2 tablespoons butter into ½-inch pieces. Using your fingers, rub butter into cornbread mixture until it resembles a mealy powder. Using a spatula, fold in 1 sour cream packet until a thick batter is formed.

5. Whip mascarpone cream

In a medium bowl, combine mascarpone, remaining sour cream, 1 tablespoon granulated sugar, ½ teaspoon vanilla, and a pinch of salt; whisk until smooth.

3. Bake shortcakes

Evenly divide batter into 2 balls on prepared baking sheet, spaced 2 inches apart. Place in freezer until firm, about 10 minutes.

Brush tops of batter with 1 large beaten egg; sprinkle with raw sugar. Bake on upper oven rack until golden brown, rotating halfway through, 13–15 minutes. Let cool to room temperature.

6. Assemble & serve

Carefully split each shortcake in half with a serrated knife. Spoon blueberry jam on shortcake bottoms. Top with macerated nectarines, mascarpone, and shortcake tops. Enjoy!
