Beef Wonton Stir-Fry

with Sugar Snap Peas

We love fresh pasta sheets for so many reasons but at the top of the list is its versatility! Here, we use this quick-cooking pasta in a stir-fry by cleverly cutting the sheets into wonton-esque squares. We combine our "wontons" with crisp snap peas and beef strips, then toss it all together in a sweet and savory stir-fry sauce.

1. Cut pasta squares

Bring a medium saucepan of salted water to a boil.

Stack 3 of the pasta sheets (save rest for own use). Cut the stack into 4 (2- x 6-inch) strips. Stack strips, then cut across into 2- x 2-inch squares (like wonton squares). Cover with a damp paper towel to keep from drying out and set aside until step 4.

2. Prep aromatics & beef

Finely chop 1 teaspoon garlic and 1 tablespoon peeled ginger.

Pat beef dry, then cut into 1-inch pieces. Season all over with salt and pepper.

3. Stir-fry beef

Heat 2 tablespoons neutral oil in a medium nonstick skillet over high until shimmering. Add beef and cook, stirring once or twice, until browned in spots and cooked through, 3-4 minutes. Add chopped garlic and ginger and stir-fry until fragrant, about 1 minute. Remove from heat.

4. Cook pasta squares

Meanwhile, add pasta squares to boiling water and cook, stirring to prevent sticking, until tender, about 2 minutes.
Reserve ¼ cup cooking water, then drain.

5. Finish stir-fry

Heat skillet with beef over high. Add snap peas, pasta squares, and 1 teaspoon of sesame oil. Stir-fry until just combined, about 1 minute. Add all of the stir-fry sauce, reserved cooking water, and 2 tablespoons vinegar. Stir-fry until pasta is coated in sauce, 2-3 minutes.

6. Chop cilantro & serve

Coarsely chop cilantro and stems. Serve beef wonton stir-fry garnished with sesame seeds and chopped cilantro. Enjoy!
