

Kung Pao Beef Stir-Fry

with Rice Noodles

20-30min

2 Servings

Kung Pao is a well-recognized and much-loved Chinese takeout classic. And, while we can never replace your go-to Chinese restaurant, we can bring the distinct flavors of a takeout favorite to your home-cooking repertoire. We use beef which, aside from being tasty, also helps cut down on cook time. Once everything is prepped, the dish comes together really quickly on the stove, so be ready!

1. Boil noodles

Bring a large pot of salted water to a boil. Add noodles and cook, stirring occasionally to prevent sticking, until al dente, 6-8 minutes. Drain noodles, then rinse under cold water and toss with 1 teaspoon oil.

2. Prep ingredients

Halve pepper, discard stem and seeds, then cut into ½-inch pieces. Peel and finely chop half of the ginger (save rest for own use). Trim scallions, then thinly slice about ¼ cup, keeping dark greens separate. Coarsely chop peanuts.

Pat beef dry. Lightly season with salt.

3. Make sauce

In a small bowl, stir to combine all of the teriyaki sauce, 1 tablespoon rice vinegar, a pinch of gochugaru, and 2 tablespoons water. Set aside until step 5.

4. Stir-fry veggies & beef

Heat 1 tablespoon oil in a medium skillet over medium-high until shimmering. Add chopped ginger, scallion whites and light greens, and ⅔ of the peanuts. Cook, stirring, until fragrant, about 30 seconds. Add bell peppers and beef and cook, stirring, until veggies are tender and beef is beginning to brown, about 3 minutes.

5. Stir-fry noodles & serve

Add noodles and sauce to skillet. Cook over medium-high heat, tossing well, until sauce is slightly thickened, 1-2 minutes.

Serve Kung pao beef stir-fry garnished with remaining scallions, peanuts, and gochugaru. Enjoy!
