

Korean Chicken Lettuce Cups

with Jasmine Rice

20-30min

2 Servings

This recipe is inspired by Korean bulgogi, which translates to “fire meat.” Marinated chicken gets cooked under a hot broiler (the closest we could get to an open fire!), for concentrated flavor and char. Crisp lettuce acts as a cooling vehicle for the fiery (but not too fiery) chicken along with fluffy jasmine rice.

1. Cook rice

In a small saucepan, combine rice, 1¼ cups water, and a pinch of salt; bring to a boil over high heat. Reduce heat to low, cover, and cook until rice is tender and water is absorbed, about 17 minutes. Transfer to a plate. Rinse out saucepan and reserve for step 5.

4. Stir-fry rice

While chicken is broiling, heat 1 tablespoon neutral oil and ½ teaspoon sesame oil in a medium nonstick skillet over medium-high. Add remaining grated ginger and cook, stirring, until fragrant, about 1 minute. Add rice and cook, stirring to combine, about 2 minutes.

2. Marinate chicken

Peel and finely grate half of the ginger. In a large bowl, combine tamari, mirin, chili garlic sauce, ¾ of the grated ginger, 1 tablespoon sugar, and 1½ teaspoons sesame oil. Trim any excess fat from chicken, then add to marinade; toss to coat. Set aside to marinate at room temperature for 15 minutes. Preheat broiler with top rack 6 inches from heat source.

5. Make sauce

Pour reserved marinade and any resting juices from baking sheet into saucepan from step 1; bring to a boil over high heat. Reduce heat to medium-high and cook until marinade becomes a thin syrup, 3-5 minutes.

3. Broil chicken

Remove chicken from marinade, letting excess drip back into bowl. Reserve marinade for step 5. Transfer chicken to a foil-lined rimmed baking sheet. Broil on top oven rack until chicken is slightly charred and cooked to 165°F internally, 8-10 minutes, flipping chicken halfway through (watch closely as ovens vary).

6. Assemble & serve

Trim stem end from lettuce and separate leaves. Cut lime into wedges and set aside. Slice chicken crosswise into thin strips. Set lettuce leaves on a platter and fill with rice and chicken. Drizzle with reduced marinade and pass lime wedges for squeezing over top. Enjoy!
