

Low-Carb Stir-Fried Chicken & Broccoli

with Cauliflower Rice & Double Chicken!

20-30min

2 Servings

How can a classic stir-fry be so low carb? Simply swap the rice for cauliflower! Saucy chicken and broccoli pair perfectly with cauliflower rice, which we quickly steam in the microwave. That means more veggies on your plate and just as much stir-fried flavor.

1. Marinate chicken

Pat chicken dry; cut into 1-inch pieces, if necessary. Toss in a medium bowl with 2 tablespoons each of stir-fry sauce and water, 1 packet of cornstarch, 1 tablespoon oil, and ½ teaspoon each of salt and pepper. Mix well and set aside.

4. Cook chicken

In a large nonstick skillet, heat 2 tablespoons oil over high until lightly smoking. Add chicken; cook, undisturbed, until browned on the bottom, about 2 minutes. Stir and cook until nearly cooked through, 1-2 minutes more. Transfer to a plate.

2. Prep ingredients

Finely chop 1 teaspoon garlic.

Cut broccoli into 1-inch florets, if necessary. Add to a second medium bowl and cover; microwave until bright green and crisp-tender, 1-2 minutes.

In a small bowl, whisk together 1 tablespoon cornstarch and ⅓ cup water until no lumps remain. Stir in broth concentrate and remaining stir-fry sauce.

5. Stir-fry broccoli

Add 1 tablespoon oil and garlic to same skillet. Cook over high heat, stirring frequently, until fragrant, about 30 seconds. Add broccoli and cook, stirring and tossing, 1 minute more.

3. Cook cauliflower rice

Add cauliflower rice to a third medium bowl. Cover and microwave until just tender, stirring halfway through, 5-7 minutes. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Keep covered until ready to serve.

6. Finish & serve

Whisk stir-fry sauce mixture to recombine; add to skillet along with chicken. Cook, stirring frequently, until sauce is thickened and chicken is cooked through, about 1 minute.

Serve chicken and broccoli with cauliflower rice. Enjoy!
