Fast! Grilled Hoisin Organic Sirloin Steak

with Bo Bun Salad

ca. 20min

2 Servings

This classic Vietnamese rice noodle salad is full of bright and fresh flavors, but there's no need to fly across the world when all it takes is 20 minutes at home. We grill meaty ranch steaks with sweet and savory hoisin glaze, then lay the juicy steak on delicate rice noodles along with crisp vegetables and a little heat. A tangy lime vinaigrette dresses the salad before we top it off with fresh cilantro and crunchy peanuts.

1. Cook noodles

Soak noodles in a heatproof medium bowl filled with boiling water until tender, about 10 minutes. Drain in a fine-mesh sieve. Using kitchen shears, cut noodles into smaller pieces.

Meanwhile, thinly slice half of the jalapeño crosswise (or more, depending on heat preference). Use a vegetable peeler to shave cucumber and carrot lengthwise into ribbons (peel first, if desired).

4. Finish steaks

Meanwhile, cut remaining lime into wedges. Use a mallet or rolling pin to crush peanuts.

Brush half of the remaining hoisin sauce all over steaks and cook, turning, until glaze is charred in spots, about 1 minute more.

2. Prep ingredients

Preheat a grill or grill pan over medium-high heat. Finely grate lime zest into a medium bowl. Squeeze juice from half of the lime into bowl with zest. Add all of the fish sauce, 1 tablespoon sugar, and 1 teaspoon hoisin sauce.

Add jalapeños, carrots, cucumbers, and noodles to bowl with sauce and toss to coat. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

5. Finish

Thinly slice steaks, if desired. Drizzle with some of the remaining hoisin sauce.

Serve steak with noodle salad alongside. Top with cilantro sprigs and peanuts. Serve lime wedges alongside for squeezing over top.

3. Cook steaks

Pat steaks dry, then rub lightly with oil and season all over with salt and pepper.

Add steaks to preheated grill or grill pan and cook until browned and medium-rare, 3-4 minutes per side (or longer for desired doneness).

6. Serve

Enjoy!
