Char Siu Heat & Eat Ribs with Bok Choy

& Soy-Scallion Oil

30-40min

2 Servings

A Cantonese-style of barbecued pork, char siu is an immediate make-your-mouth-water set of flavors. We combine paprika and Chinese five spice with honey, hoisin, tamari, and sesame oil for an irresistible homemade char siu glaze to slather on a rack of baked pork ribs. We quick-steam bok choy for a beautiful burst of green and whip up soy-scallion oil to garnish this comforting plate of jasmine rice and sticky glazed pork.

1. Cook rice

Preheat oven to 450°F with a rack in the center. Line a rimmed baking sheet with parchment paper.

In a small saucepan, combine rice, 1¼ cups water, and ½ teaspoon salt; bring to a boil over high heat. Cover; cook over low heat until rice is tender and water is absorbed, about 17 minutes. Keep covered, off heat.

4. Prep ingredients

Crush 1 large garlic clove. Cut scallion whites into 1-inch sections. Thinly slice scallion greens; reserve for step 6. Trim ends from bok choy, separate into individual leaves.

In reserved skillet, combine scallion pieces and garlic with 1 tablespoon oil. Cook over medium-low heat, until aromatics are deeply browned, 5-7 minutes.

2. Make char siu glaze

Into a small skillet, finely grate ½ teaspoon garlic. Add 1½ teaspoons paprika, ⅓ teaspoon Chinese five spice, and 2 teaspoons oil. Cook over low heat until garlic is fragrant and oil is stained red, 2-3 minutes.

Add honey, ½ tablespoon hoisin, 1 teaspoon sesame oil, and ½ teaspoon tamari. Cook over medium heat until lightly thickened and syrupy, 1-2 minutes.

5. Cook soy-scallion oil

Remove and discard scallions and garlic from skillet. Add remaining hoisin, tamari, and sesame oil, 1 teaspoon sugar, and 1 tablespoon water. Bring to a simmer to dissolve sugar; set aside.

Arrange bok choy in a single layer on a plate lined with damp paper towels; cover with another layer of damp paper towels.

3. Cook ribs

Transfer glaze to a bowl; wash and reserve skillet. Pat ribs dry; transfer to parchment-lined baking sheet, meat side up. Brush rib meat all over with half of the char siu glaze. Bake on center rack until sauce is set and edges of ribs start to caramelize, 5-7 minutes.

Brush with remaining glaze; continue roasting until ribs are browned, glazed, and sticky, another 5-7 minutes.

6. Finish & serve

Microwave bok choy until bright green and crisp-tender, 2-3 minutes (check every minute as microwaves vary). Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Divide rice and bok choy between plates; drizzle with soy-scallion oil. Cut ribs in between bones; divide between plates. Sprinkle with scallion greens. Enjoy!
