1. Prep ingredients

Bring a medium pot of water to a boil.

Halve and thinly slice shallot. Halve pepper, discard stem and seeds, then cut into 1-inch pieces. Scrub sweet potato, halve lengthwise and chop crosswise into ½-inch half-moons. Pull apart ¼ of the noodles and use scissors to cut into 2-inch pieces (keep remaining noodles whole).

4. Simmer soup

To same pot, add coconut milk, tamari, 1 teaspoon sugar and ½ cup water; whisk to combine. Stir in sweet potatoes and peppers; bring soup to a boil. Simmer, covered, over medium-low heat, until veggies are tender, 10-15 minutes. Season to taste with additional salt, pepper, and sugar.

2. Fry noodles

Line a plate with paper towels. Heat 2 tablespoons oil in a medium Dutch oven or pot over medium-high until shimmering. Add noodle pieces and fry, stirring, until noodles are puffed and golden brown, 1-2 minutes (reduce heat if browning too quickly). Use a slotted spoon to transfer fried noodles to prepared plate; sprinkle with salt and set aside until ready to serve.

5. Cook remaining noodles

While soup simmers, add remaining uncooked noodles to boiling water. Remove pot from heat and let noodles soak until tender, about 10 minutes. Drain noodles. Use kitchen shears to cut noodles into smaller pieces. Divide noodles between serving bowls.

3. Start soup

Pick cilantro leaves from stems; finely chop stems, keeping leaves whole.

To same pot, add ¾ of the sliced shallots; reduce heat to medium. Cook, stirring frequently, until golden brown, 2-4 minutes. Add all of the red curry paste and cilantro stems; cook, stirring constantly, until very fragrant, about 1 minute.

6. Finish & serve

Cut lime into wedges. Ladle soup into bowls with noodles and top with crispy noodles, remaining sliced shallots, and whole cilantro leaves. Serve soup with lime wedges on the side for squeezing over. Enjoy!
