Banana Pudding with Homemade Vanilla Wafers & Whipped Mascarpone

 2h  2 Servings

Banana pudding, vanilla wafers, and fluffy mascarpone go together like peas in a pod (but TBH, they're a lot tastier than peas). In even better news, this classic dessert couldn't be easier to make. Bake the wafer batter in the oven while you mix the pudding together and whip the mascarpone. Assemble them in your favorite cups and watch them disappear. We've got you covered!

1. Make dough

Preheat oven to 350°F with a rack in the upper third.

Place 6 tablespoons butter in a medium microwave-safe bowl; microwave until softened, about 15 seconds. Add ½ cup sugar; beat with a hand-held mixer until light and fluffy, about 5 minutes. Add self-rising flour, 1 large egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla, and ½ teaspoon salt; mix on low until just combined. Chill for 10 minutes.

4. Whip mascarpone

In a separate medium bowl, combine mascarpone, 2 tablespoons milk, and 2 teaspoons sugar. Beat with a hand-held mixer until fully combined and fluffy.

2. Bake wafers

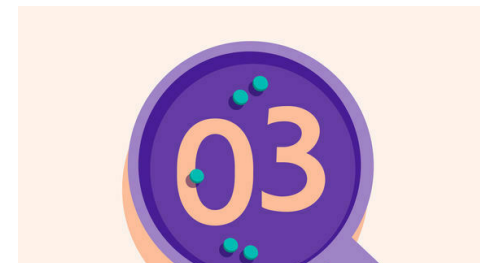

Line a rimmed baking sheet with parchment paper. Scoop dough into 1-inch cookies, spaced 1 inch apart, onto prepared baking sheet. Lightly press down until they're a ½-inch thick. Bake until crisp and golden-brown around edges, rotating sheet halfway through cooking time, 15–20 minutes. Let cool completely.

5. Assemble & serve

Once wafers are cool, crumble into pieces; add 2 tablespoons each to 4 (8 oz) jars or glasses. Divide half of the pudding among jars, then top with half of the banana chips. Top with remaining pudding, remaining banana chips, and 2 more tablespoons crumbs. Spoon mascarpone over top and sprinkle with remaining crumbs.

Chill at least 2 hours before serving. Enjoy!

3. Make pudding

Meanwhile, in a medium bowl, whisk together vanilla pudding mix, 1½ cups milk, and ½ teaspoon salt until smooth. Chill in fridge until step 5 (pudding will thicken as it chills).

Instead of making individual banana pudding cups, layer the ingredients in a large dish to make a trifle!
