1. Cook rice

In a small saucepan, combine rice, 1¼ cups water, and ½ teaspoon salt. Bring to a boil over high heat. Cover and cook over low until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed, about 17 minutes. Keep covered off heat until ready to serve.

2. Prep ingredients

Trim green beans, then cut into 1-inch pieces. Finely chop 1 teaspoon garlic. Pick mint leaves from stems, tearing in half if large; discard stems. Finely grate 1 teaspoon lime zest; cut lime into wedges.

Drain tofu, then cut into 1-inch cubes. Press firmly between 2 paper towels to blot excess water.

3. Brown tofu

Heat 2 tablespoons oil in a large nonstick skillet over medium-high until shimmering. Add tofu in a single layer and cook until crisp on the bottom, 2–3 minutes. Flip tofu and continue cooking until crisp, 2–3 minutes more. Season with salt. Transfer to a plate and set aside.

4. Blister green beans

Heat 1 tablespoon oil in same skillet over high. Once oil is smoking, add green beans and cook, stirring and tossing occasionally, until tender and browned in spots, 2–3 minutes. Season lightly with salt; transfer to plate with tofu.

5. Fry curry paste & serve

Heat 1 tablespoon oil in same skillet over high. Add chopped garlic and all of the curry paste; cook, stirring, until darkened and aromatic, about 1 minute. Add tofu, green beans, tamari, lime zest, mint, and 1 tablespoon sugar. Toss to combine. Season to taste with salt.

Serve curry stir-fry over rice with lime wedges for squeezing over top. Enjoy!
