

Creamy White Bean Soup

with Mozzarella & Kale Toasts

20-30min

2 Servings

We often try to figure out how to make a meal out of a good piece of toast. Topping it with fresh mozzarella and sautéed kale was a good start, but adding a pot of creamy white bean soup turned it from tasty to super satisfying. Use as much crushed red pepper as you like, or omit it altogether depending on how spicy you like your food.

1. Prep vegetables

Finely chop onion. Finely chop 2 teaspoons garlic; thinly slice 1 large garlic clove, and keep 1 large garlic clove whole. Thinly slice celery. Remove kale leaves from any tough stems; discard stems and coarsely chop leaves.

2. Sauté vegetables

Heat 2 tablespoons oil in a medium pot over medium-high. Add onions, celery, and chopped garlic; cook until softened, about 5 minutes. Add a pinch of crushed red pepper (or more, depending on heat preference); stir to combine. Add beans and their liquid, broth concentrate, 1½ cups water, ½ teaspoon salt, and a few grinds of pepper. Simmer, partially covered, 10 minutes.

3. Sauté kale

While soup simmers, heat 1 tablespoon oil in a large skillet over medium. Add sliced garlic and cook, stirring, until fragrant, about 30 seconds. Add kale and ¼ cup water. Cook, tossing, until kale is wilted and tender, 8-10 minutes; season to taste with salt. Set sautéed kale aside until step 6.

4. Purée soup

Working in batches, transfer soup to a blender and purée until smooth (or use an immersion blender). Season to taste with salt and pepper.

5. Make toasts

Thinly slice mozzarella. Preheat broiler with a rack in the top position. Split each ciabatta roll, then place halves on a rimmed baking sheet and toast on both sides. Rub whole garlic clove all over cut side of toasted ciabatta (you won't use all of the garlic).

6. Finish toasts and serve

Drizzle cut side of ciabatta toasts with oil and top with mozzarella. Broil until cheese is melted and bubbly, 1-2 minutes. Top toasts with sautéed kale. Finely grate some of the lemon zest over top of soup, along with a drizzle of oil, and a pinch of crushed red pepper, if desired. Halve ciabatta toasts and serve alongside soup. Enjoy!
