

Homemade Granola

with Coconut, Apricots & Cranberries

 2h  2 Servings

This homemade granola is better than the grocery store's, and it doesn't take much more effort either! Studded with apricots, cranberries, almonds, pumpkin seeds, and coconut flakes, its sweet and nutty crunch might get addictive. Enjoy it alone as a power snack, amp up breakfast with a healthy yogurt bowl, or sprinkle over ice cream! (2p-plan makes 10 servings; 4p-plan makes 20—nutrition reflects 1 portion)

1. Mix granola

Preheat oven to 325°F with a rack in the upper third. Line a rimmed baking sheet with parchment paper; grease with nonstick cooking spray.

Coarsely chop almonds. In a large bowl, whisk maple syrup, brown sugar, ½ cup oil, 1 tablespoon vanilla, and 1 teaspoon salt until smooth. Add oats, almonds, pumpkin seeds, coconut, and chia; fold with a spatula until evenly coated.

2. Bake granola

Transfer oat mixture to prepared baking sheet and spread into a thin, even layer (about ½-inch thick). Using stiff metal spatula, press oat mixture until very compact.

Bake on upper oven rack until lightly browned, rotating sheet halfway through, 40–45 minutes. Let cool to room temperature, about 1 hour.

3. Finish & serve

Once granola is fully cooled, break into pieces of desired size. Chop apricots, if necessary.

Stir dried cranberries and apricots into granola before serving. Enjoy!
