1. Heat lava cakes

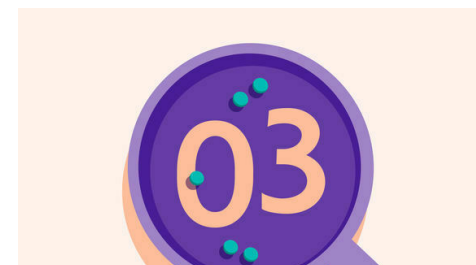

Microwave: Place cakes on a microwave-safe plate and heat in microwave for 25 seconds.

Oven: Preheat oven to 350°F with a rack in the center. Place cakes on a rimmed baking sheet. If frozen, bake for 17 minutes. If thawed, bake for 12 minutes.

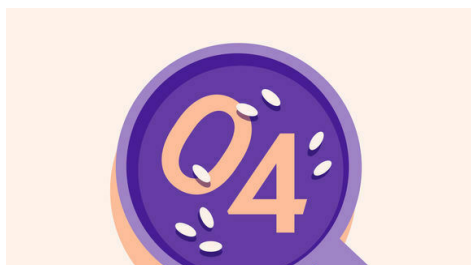

2. Coffee & cake

What goes better with a freshly brewed cup of coffee than a heavenly bite of cake? Beat the afternoon slump with a coffee and cake break!

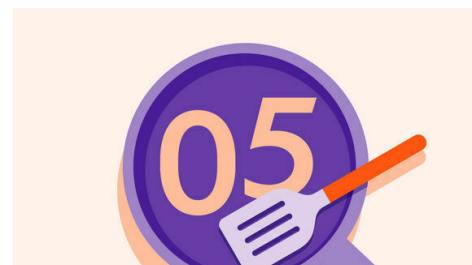

3. Lava cake a la mode!

Pick your favorite ice cream flavor and add a scoop to a just-out-of-the-oven lava cake. Got more toppings? Bring them on!

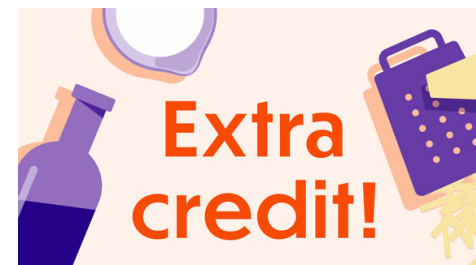

4. #Pumpkinspice whip

Make a homemade pumpkin spiced whipped cream: Beat heavy cream using a whisk or electric mixer with a whisk attachment. Once it begins to thicken, add some confectioners' sugar and a touch of pumpkin spice! Dollop on top of warm lava cakes and enjoy!

5. Fruit compote topper

Cook down seasonal fresh fruit with granulated or brown sugar until bubbly and thickened. Tip: We love berries and stone fruits for easy compotes and we always keep frozen versions on hand for when they're not in season!

6. Food History 101

Molten chocolate cake became a hot menu item in the late 80's, when famous French chef, Jean-Georges Vongerichten, claims to have stumbled into it when he took a chocolate cake out of the oven too early. Other chefs disagree, claiming that the dessert had long been on the scene in France before the 80's. Who knew cake could be so controversial?
